Thirty Third Sunday in Ordinary Time, 11-19-17

PARISH MISSION STATEMENT

*As a parish community united in Jesus and dedicated to Mary,
We are called to discipleship through worship and service.*

Thirty Third Sunday in Ordinary Time—November 19, 2017 A Reflection from Deacon Eric

This past weekend my deacon classmates and I went west for our annual Gettysburg get-away. Once again, our “kids” (now all over 21) made the journey with us. Our fall visit to the battlefield has become a tradition to which us “Dads” and our “kids” look forward all year round. Being there on Veterans’ Day added significance to the visit, as we remembered the sacrifices of family members and friends who have served our country in the Armed Forces.

Some might wonder why we make this trip year after year. After all, most people probably reach their national park saturation point after one visit. But this was my ninth consecutive year. What more could I see, hear, and do that I hadn’t seen, heard, and done already? What could I possibly get excited about after nine consecutive visits to Gettysburg? Even Deacon Bob tries to heighten the suspense by saying he’s not going to tell me how the battle ended.

But something new and interesting did happen this time. On more than one occasion, someone in our little group saw a monument or statue and asked in a puzzled tone of voice, “When did that one get here?” And the answer most likely was “over a hundred years ago.” In other words, the monument or statue was always there, but we just never noticed it, never “saw” it. But now we had, and our knowledge and appreciation of that particular area of the battlefield was expanded and enriched.

Driving home last Sunday afternoon, I got to thinking how reading the Bible is like that too. Every three years at Mass we make our way through much of the Old and New Testaments contained in the three yearly cycles of the lectionary. (We’re currently completing Cycle A.) And each year, as we revisit those same chapters and verses over and over, something previously unnoticed sometimes pops out at us, or strikes us in some fresh new way. Of course that “something” was always there, but we just never noticed it, nor “saw” it. But now we had, and our understanding and appreciation for that particular area of “God’s Word” was expanded and enriched.

All of this puts the lie to the excuse some people give for not going to Mass: “I’ve heard it all before.” Not true. Most likely they really haven’t. Each time you and I read God’s Word, we give Him an opportunity to speak to us in a fresh new way, to potentially open our eyes to some great truth we never noticed before. And He usually does.

So there’s value in doing something over and over—even when you think you’ve “seen or done it all before.” That’s often true when visiting national parks, but it’s always true when reading the Bible. National parks don’t speak to you; God does. Why not make Scripture reading a more regular part of your life in the new liturgical year ahead? Just maybe God has something new to say to you.

Deacon Eric
