All Saints' Day, and All Souls' Day: What's the difference?

Everyone knows how to celebrate Halloween—with costumes, candy and horror movies, right? Well, that isn't wrong, but it isn't the entire story either. What about All Saints' Day or All Souls' Day? Let's start with Halloween. We all know trick-or-treaters ask for candy door-to-door in costumes ranging from adorable to frightening, but the holiday does not have roots in either candy or costumes.

Long ago in Ireland and Britain, Christians would come together on All Hallows Eve to ask for God's blessing and protection from the evil in the world. The source of the modern celebrations stemmed from the donning of saintly and evil spirit costumes to act out the battle between good and evil. According to dictionary.com, the word "Halloween" is a "direct derivation of All Saints Day" with "All Hallows" in Old English meaning "the feast of the saints."

"Halloween" has also been translated to "Eve of All Hallows," which was a holy day celebrating the day before All Saints Day, that Reverend Richard Donohoe, the vicar of Catholic Charities for the Diocese of Birmingham, described as "a celebration of the communion of saints, those people we believe are in heaven, through good works and God's grace." All Saints' Day is celebrated the first day of November while All Souls' Day is celebrated November 2.

All Saints' Day is a day Catholics offer prayers to those in purgatory. Reverend Donohoe said, "All Saints' Day and All Souls' Day are related, but they are two separate celebrations. On All Saints' Day there's a call to live as saints, to remind us how we're supposed to live. On All Souls' Day, we're talking about all souls and asking God's mercy for them. "We're talking about those people who have died before us, and their process of getting to heaven, through Christ... It has its roots all the way back to the fourth century." It is on this day that the Book of the Dead is opened to allow parishioners to write the names of relatives to be remembered. Reverend Donohoe described that the book is "placed near the altar" and "That's done all through November. It's an All Souls' tradition..."

All Souls' Day is a commemoration of the faithfully departed and is observed primarily in the Catholic Church. Its origins date back to European folklore related to customs of veneration practiced worldwide through events like the Mexican Day of the Dead (Dia de los Muertos) or the Chinese Ghost Festival. To remember the departed, many cultures prepare meals for the souls of the dead, light candles or leave flowers on relatives' graves and some anoint tombstones with holy water or pour milk over them.

All Souls’ Day is celebrated November second and if that day happens to fall on a Sunday, the Mass is of All Souls and Morning and Evening Prayer (Lauds and Vespers) for the Dead can be said while people participate. Each celebration touches on cultural beliefs about the spirit world, honoring the dead and feasts, so when you celebrate Halloween this year remember to prepare for All Saints' Day and All Souls' Day as well.

The more a person loves God, the more reason he has to hope in Him. This hope produces in the Saints an unutterable peace, which they preserve even in adversity, because as they love God, and know how beautiful He is to those who love Him, they place all their confidence and find all their repose in Him alone.

St. Alphonsus Liguori

What is the worst imaginable tragedy that could befall your life or any life? Neither long suffering nor extreme poverty. It is failing to reach the only goal that ultimately matters, that is, to die without being a saint. All of our many pursuits should be tempered with the question, what profit if I gain the whole world (and every pleasure in it), but lose my soul? Our thoughts and actions should be directed to eternity — anything else is ultimately a waste of time. As St. Alphonsus put it, We should only make use of life to grow in the love of God.

You might ask, “Isn’t that a bit unrealistic for me?” Absolutely not. It is utterly necessary. The day you were baptized you were signed up for sainthood. God made you a person “set apart” for Him, which means holy. The end for which God has placed us in the world, is this, that by our good works we may merit eternal life. (St.A.L) Holy people are not ethereal creatures floating about but are of flesh and blood, human in every way. Saints have passions, desires, emotions and needs, and they struggle with a sinful nature that selfishly clings to worldly things. However, one by one, saints give everything over to God, so they can receive the love of Christ that surpasses all knowledge, and be filled with all the fullness of God. This is God’s plan for you, so He can put His power to complete the life of Christ within you. No, not somebody else — it’s YOU I’m talking about. With this power — aka love — every single ordinary thought and mundane action, from cooking dinner, washing clothes, going to work, and to any time spent with others can take on incredible and redeeming significance.

Look, God could have created an infinite number of more “perfect” people, but out of nothingness He chose to create you. He must have seen something very special in you that He planned to share with our world. The same holds true for everyone around us. It is those people who understand that all that is not given is lost, give fully of their love and become saints.

If you’re like me, you are fearfully away of falling short. I know that I still am holding things back from Christ, even though intellectually I want to give my all. Why is it so easy to deceive ourselves? Complete loving obedience does not come easily to me. Personally, I worry most about so much good I could have accomplished, but did not, and the emptiness that sin causes in my soul. Should I die at this moment, my hope rests in His Infinite Mercy to complete His Love in me while in Purgatory. Should I be around longer, I can still give in and allow God to make this seemingly ordinary life of mine, extraordinary. Letting St. Alphonsus have the last words, Let us make up for lost time. Let us give to God the time that remains to us - and to become saints.

Questions Kids ask????

There are many interesting discussions going on in our CCD classes. One quickly realizes that we take much for granted when we assume even the most basic in Catholic teaching. One such topic is related to both All Saints and All Souls Day. That is, do we get our bodies back after our souls depart from it at death? I would say that over 90% of our kids answer no.

I usually respond with the question, "Well, did the disciples see Jesus' body after he was raised from the dead?" On this, the majority answer yes. I then point out that we, too, will be raised from the dead. As humans we have a body and soul and if we did not get our body back, we would not be human anymore. This usually starts their minds wondering, "Will I look like I do when I die?" At that, I ask if the disciples recognized the risen Jesus on the road to Emmaus? OK, most don't recall the passage, so I tell them they did not because it was the glorified Christ. To their relief I tell them that we will also have our glorified body after the Final Judgment.

St. Paul was speaking of physical resurrection when he said "If the dead are not raised, then Christ has not been raised. If Christ has not been raised, your faith is futile and you are still in your sins." Might I suggest that in this era when so many do not respect their own bodies, this is a great lesson for you to share. We don't own our own bodies, so we have no right to abuse it with drugs and alcohol, mangle it with disfiguring operations or treat disrespectfully after death. This has been an essential Christian teaching for over 2000 years. (And pretty good news too.)
