Welcome! The Archdiocese requires that all Roman Catholics be registered in a parish. Those who desire to be godparents for Baptism or sponsors for Confirmation must be registered and actively practicing the faith. We cannot certify your eligibility for these roles if you are not registered and if we do not know you. To obtain a census and registration form, please call the rectory or visit our website.

BAPTISM – The Church asks that children be baptized soon after birth. Baptisms are scheduled once a month on Sunday afternoons. Please call the rectory office in advance of your desired month for baptism. Parents and godparents will attend a special catechetical session before the baptism. Godparents must meet all of the Church’s eligibility requirements.

R.C.I.A. – This is a process for those adults (18 years and older) who desire to become Catholic or complete the initiation sacraments (Eucharist and/or Confirmation). It is also intended for those baptized in another Christian denomination who wish to join the Catholic faith. Call the rectory and speak to Father Joe Mancini for further information.

MARRIAGE – The Roman Catholic Church affirms the belief that marriage is designed for the union of one man and one woman. Roman Catholics are bound by the Church’s law to marry in a Catholic Church and have that marriage witnessed by a priest or a deacon. The Common Policy on Marriage in the State of New Jersey requires the couple to prepare for one year prior to entering into marriage. Please call the rectory for more information.

ANOINTING OF THE SICK – Please notify the rectory in the event of a serious illness. A communal Mass of Anointing is offered once a year. Visits to the homebound, upon request, can be made. Please notify a priest when a loved one is near death so the appropriate prayers may be administered.

HOLY ORDERS – Any Catholic male, regardless of age, who feels the Lord calling him to the happy and fulfilling life of a priest is asked to speak to one of the parish priests or to call the Vocations Office at 973-313-6190. You can also visit www.newarkpriest.com.

The Fourth Sunday of Easter

Acts 13:14, 43-52
Revelation 7:9, 14-17
John 10:27-30

The liturgies of the last two Sundays have led us to reflect upon the apostles’ coming to faith on the Risen Lord. As they shared this faith with the first generation of Christians, the image of Jesus as ‘shepherd and guardian’ of God’s people (1 Peter 2:25) established itself in Christian consciousness. One of the Church’s first representations of the Savior portrayed him as a youthful shepherd with a sheep on his shoulders - no doubt indicating that when they heard the parable of the lost sheep, the first Christians instinctively identified the shepherd of the parable with the Risen Lord.

The image has a long pre-history. In Old Testament times, the peoples of the Middle East, had a old tradition that spoke of a king as ‘shepherd’ of his people. Though these ancient rulers were all too often exploiters of their subjects, this remarkable ideal of humble service lived on in the peoples’ traditions. In the outlook of old Israel, something remarkable occurred when this image was associated with the God of the covenant, the champion of the oppressed - who rebuked the nation’s rulers through his prophet: ‘You have failed to bring back strays or look for the lost … I myself shall take care of my flock’ (Ezekiel 34). This arresting theme is echoed in the psalms, Israel’s confession of faith – in Psalm 99 used in today’s liturgy, and in the familiar Psalm 23.

Against this background, the New Testament passages that speak of Jesus as ‘shepherd’ (‘when the chief shepherd appears, you will be given an unfading crown of glory’, 1 Peter 5:4; ‘the God of peace brought back from the dead our Lord Jesus, the great Shepherd of the sheep’, Hebrews 13: 20) take on a new depth of meaning – a meaning that is fully expressed in today’s short gospel reading from John.

‘The Father and I are one’: with these final words of the fourth gospel’s long and familiar passage on the ‘shepherd’ theme, Jesus makes it clear that, in his role as ‘shepherd’, he identifies himself with the Shepherd who is the God of Israel – full expression of the Father’s being. Because he speaks with the fullness of the divine authority, true believers ‘listen to his voice’; he is the very Author of ‘eternal life’. The first two readings complement this affirmation, by celebrating the universal nature of his flock: before the throne of the one who laid down his life for them are gathered ‘people from every nation, race, tribe and language’; his ‘salvation reaches the ends of the earth’.

How should we live out our faith in the Risen Lord? Let us learn from first generation of Christians who did so by owning him as their ‘Good Shepherd’ – by ‘listening to his voice’ as they pondering all that the great truths of faith offered them, and by living in the hope he brought to the world as he ‘led them to springs of living water’.

Dear Friends,

A lot of work goes into the liturgies and services of Holy Week and the Triduum. It is impossible for one person to do everything. I am grateful to the following for their work over the past few weeks:

- the ministers of the Sacred Liturgy – lectors, special ministers of Holy Communion, ushers – for their ministry of service.

- our altar servers for their dedication to this parish, for the personal time they sacrificed for rehearsals and set-up and for the maturity and seriousness they brought to their ministry.

- our sacristans for their work “behind the scenes” before, during and after each liturgy.

- the children’s choir and adult choir, leaders of song, and instrumentalists for helping us “make a joyful noise unto the Lord!”

- Bob Maidhof for all of the work he puts in to each liturgy; literally hours of practice and prep and for his suggestion that we acquire the new bells and chime component to the organ.

- those who helped dust the Church and wipe the pews on Wednesday of Holy Week.

- the volunteers who decorated the Church on Holy Saturday morning.

- Sharon, Janet and the staff of Lee’s Florist for their guidance and professional work.

- Mary Lynn Morrison for filling 1,500 bottles with water that were blessed at the Easter Vigil and taken home by our parish families and for cleaning each individual votive glass for the shrine candles.

- our office and maintenance staff – Theresa and Ken – for the many “odds and ends” they tended to in the days of Lent and Holy Week.

- our teenagers for portraying the Living Stations of the Cross on Good Friday.

- the Scouts and Leaders of Unit 305 for their assistance with the body of the Dead Savior on Good Friday and the bonfire at the Easter Vigil

- Ed Civinskas who captured memories of the Triduum with his photography skills and Matt Schirm and his team for providing our Facebook Livestream.

- all who contributed to our flower and Easter collections.

- the Kearny Police Department who had a visible presence on Easter Sunday assuring those at Mass that they were safe.

There are so many others who prefer no recognition but, instead, use their gifts and talents quietly to make Saint Stephen’s the parish it truly is! We are not made great by how much money we have in the bank or how beautiful our architecture is but, rather, by the contributions of our parishioners. I am proud to be your pastor! Let us pray for one another!

Fr. Joe
Do you know of anyone who would like to become a Catholic or anyone who was not confirmed or received Eucharist? Now is the time to invite them to our faith! The power of a personal invitation cannot be denied or disputed. Share the joy you have as a Catholic Christian! Share what God has done for you! Anyone you know who wishes to complete their sacraments or join the Church through Baptism should speak to Father Joe to begin preparation for next year’s RCIA.

The time for fulfilling the Paschal Precept (Easter Duty*) extends from the First Sunday of Lent, March 10, 2019 to the Solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity, June 16, 2018

*Canon 920, §1. All the faithful, after they have been initiated into the Most Holy Eucharist, are bound by the obligation of receiving Communion at least once a year.

God never gives up on his mercy, especially in our time where there exists the false perception of self-sufficiency and lack of awareness of one’s very sinfulness. These joint heresies endanger souls by creating the erroneous perception so prevalent in this day and age: that we have no need for mercy. Nothing could be further from the truth—and yet, for those who are willing to concede their need, nothing is simpler to remedy. Mercy is his loving face directed to the healing of the wounds of sin, the wounds that trigger a separation and distance in our relationship with God.

Why do we need to see God?

As people, we always try to reach out, to find new things, to do something different. We go beyond ourselves to find happiness.

God created us with this urge to reach beyond ourselves to find God. He wants us to seek him out. He made us for himself. And he reaches out to us, to show us what he is like, and to make us happy. When we do find God, we find true and complete happiness.

How do we recognize the Lord? God showed himself in stages. First, he showed goodness through creation. Then, he showed his patience in his covenant with Noah after the flood. He chose a people for his own through Abraham. He showed his people his will through the Law he gave to Moses on Mt. Sinai. And he drew his people back to himself in the voices of his prophets.

But, in the end, he wanted to show everyone himself. He did that in Jesus. He is the Word of God born into the world. When we see Jesus, who he was and what he did, we see God. In Jesus, we see God alive and working.

God made us to seek him for our happiness. When we see Jesus, we find God. When we recognize the Lord, we are so completely satisfied that nothing else can be added.
