But as for what was sown on good soil, this is the one who hears the word and understands it, who indeed bears fruit and yields, in one case a hundredfold, in another sixty, and in another thirty.

It might be tough in the city to comprehend all three of our Scripture readings today with a farming motif. We have a farm school right down Henry Avenue, so we are not that far away from some agriculture. We can at least visualize what the scriptures are relating today about planting and growing seeds.

The first reading from Isaiah speaks of God’s word going forth. Isaiah relates God’s vision about the effectiveness of his Word. “My word shall not return to me void, but shall do my will, achieving the end for which I sent it.” This passage is at the end of the second installment of the Book of the Prophet Isaiah and is a fitting conclusion to the effectiveness of the prophetic word. The exiles are proceeding back to Jerusalem after a time of exile and it is a testament of the reliability of prophecy and the power of the God of Israel.

Isaiah drew a vivid picture of the extravagance of God’s blessings. The rain and the snow does not return to the sky until they have watered the earth, making it fertile and fruitful. In the same way, the word of God goes forth from his mouth to the whole earth and does not return void.

In the second reading we continue to hear from the Letter of St. Paul to the Romans. Paul addresses the sufferings of the people of God. The fallen world is a place of pain, divisions and privation. This is not the whole story, however. Paul paints a picture of creation in the pangs of new birth. The sufferings of the present time will be transformed into a new creation and we will share in a glorious freedom as children of God. The grace of God will be extended to the whole human race and the entire natural order.

Jesus’ parables about the kingdom form the third major discourse in Matthew’s Gospel. A parable is a simile or metaphor drawn from everyday life or from nature. Its vividness or strangeness gains the hearers attention but demands further reflection regarding the precise meaning. In Jesus teaching, the kingdom has both present and future dimensions.

In Jesus parable, the farmer knows that much of his or her labor will be unfruitful, but the farmer also believes in the power of seeds to be amazingly fruitful when they do find good soil. As Jesus offers the math in the conclusion, some seeds bear fruit thirty, sixty or even a hundred-fold. The farmer is happy and hopeful. Great potential is hidden within each and every seed.

Jesus is telling us the kingdom of heaven is like this. He is suggesting that although many times the work of the kingdom seems lost or unproductive in a worldly way or even in our individual hearts, God is not anxious. God believes in the power of the seeds. God believes that His Word, the seed, is not ultimately fruitless, no matter what the current circumstances seem to indicate.

We can see ourselves either in the person of the sower or in the different kinds of soil. There are times when our efforts seem fruitless, meet with failure. There are other times we reap a bountiful harvest. There are times when our spirits are dry, but other times the seed of God’s word flourishes within us.

God believes in the power of his Word. We should too.

Father Casey

Parish Resources

SPONSOR GUIDELINES FOR BAPTISM/CONFIRMATION

Church law requires that Baptism and Confirmation sponsors themselves frequent the sacraments regularly.

When someone who does not meet that requirement is designated as a sponsor, it is always an unpleasant (and frequently painful) experience for the priest, the parents of the child, and most especially for the person designated.

The reason a sponsor must be a practicing Catholic is that a sponsor is expected to pay special attention to the efforts of the person who is being baptized or confirmed. The sponsor is expected to assist the parents of the child in their Christian duty as parents, by offering them support through good example, encouragement and prayer.

A sponsor should be a registered parishioner of IHM for at least 6 months. The sponsor should also have received all the Sacraments of Initiation: Baptism, Eucharist, Confirmation. The Sponsor must be at least 16 years of age. The Sponsor should also participate at Mass each Sunday. If married, the sponsor must also be in a valid Sacramental marriage.

By issuing a Sponsor Certificate, a priest assures members of the faithful that a person is a Catholic in good standing who is eligible to serve as a sponsor for Baptism and/or Confirmation. Please contact the Rectory during regular business hours to inquire about Sponsor Certificates.
